What is “alt” text?

Alt text specifies alternative words for a block of content that are substituted if the content is not available. Alt text is most commonly used to provide descriptions of pictures, videos, and tables. Users who have impaired vision can use a screen reader to hear the alt text for pictures, videos, and tables.

How do I add alt text to pictures?

If you add alt text to a picture, the text can be spoken by a screen reader application. Screen readers are often used by people who have a vision impairment.

- 1 Right-click a picture and select Format Picture.
The Format Picture pane appears.
- 2 Click the Layout & Properties icon.
The icon is a small square with a white background and a dark border. It contains a dark square with a white plus sign inside, and a white square with a dark plus sign inside, positioned diagonally opposite each other.
- 3 Open the ALT TEXT section.
- 4 Type a Title for the picture and press Enter.
- 5 Type a Description and press Enter.

How do I add alt text to a table?

Like pictures, tables should include alt text for users who have a vision impairment.

To add alt text for a table:

- 1 Right-click inside a table and select Table Properties.
The Table Properties dialog box appears.

- 2 Select the Alt Text tab.
- 3 Type a Title for the table.
- 4 Type a Description.
- 5 Click OK.

How do I check a document for missing accessibility features?

Accessibility features make a document more useable for readers who have trouble seeing, hearing, or moving a mouse. For example, alt text for pictures and tables can be read aloud by a screen reader program for users who have trouble seeing. Without the alt text, these users won't have access to the picture or table.

To check for missing accessibility features:

1 Select File > Info.

—OR—

Press Alt+F, I.

2 Click the Check for Issues button.

3 Select Check Accessibility.

A dialog box appears with a list of accessibility-related errors.

Autocorrect and autotext

How do I prevent automatic first-letter capitalization?

By default, Word will automatically capitalize the first letter of a sentence. This feature is normally useful, but it can be annoying if you are adding content to table cells that should not start with a capital letter.

To prevent automatic first-letter capitalization:

- 1 Select File > Options.
The Word Options dialog box appears.
- 2 Select the Proofing tab.
- 3 In the AutoCorrect options section, click AutoCorrect Options.
The AutoCorrect dialog box appears.

- 4 Select the AutoCorrect tab if it is not already selected.
- 5 Uncheck Capitalize first letter of sentences.
- 6 Click OK.

How do I prevent automatic dashes, fractions, and ordinals?

By default, Word will automatically convert two hyphens (--) to a dash (—), common fractions such as 1/2 to ½, and ordinals such as 1st to 1st. You can turn off any of these features, if needed.

To prevent automatic dashes, fractions, and/or ordinals:

- 1 Select File > Options.
The Word Options dialog box appears.
- 2 Select the Proofing tab.
- 3 In the AutoCorrect options section, click AutoCorrect Options.
The AutoCorrect dialog box appears.

- 4 Select the AutoFormat tab.
- 5 In the Replace section, uncheck the following options:
  - Ordinals (1st) with superscript
  - Fractions (1/2) with fraction character
  - Hyphens (-) with dash
- 6 Select the AutoFormat As You Type tab.

- 7 In the Replace as you type section, uncheck the following options:
